EDITOR ALTOONA (PA.), CALL: I wish say something in favor of that valuab say something in favor of that valuable nedicine, Curicura, which I saw advertised in your paper. I have had that old leprosy, owhich you read in the Bible, where the Jew last got it among them and did not know how to give it. It has many other English names, have had it on my body for over sixty years. NO DOCTOR COULD TELL

Ie what it was, and probably I never would ave known, had I not seen the advertisement in your valuable paper. First, it is a scaly affection of the skin: next, it looks like barnacles in a vessel's bottom, or an old log that had lain in the water for a long time; and just the same in my fect, knees and elbows, and by taking a nicroscope and looking at me it looks worse. In ther words, we will call it ICHTHYOSIS, OR FISH SKIN:

It proved to be the skeleton of an unknown man, who committed suicide, and on whom an inquest was held in October, 1880. The former inquest was held and the body buried about thirty yards from where the skeleton was found. It is supposed that some physician had disinterred the remains for the purpose of gaining a skeleton, and placed them in a box in the river to complete the maceration. The Coroner, being satisfied with the facts, ordered the bones reburied in the same grave from where they had been disinterred.

About o'clock the head of the long line of buggies, wagons, omnibuses and various kind f vehicles appeared, climbing up the steep cline near the eastern outlook, and soon the area in the vicinity of the cottage was ronged with horses and wagons and armers with their wives and families.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS. At 9:30 a train of two cars brought Gen eral Hancock and a number of distin-guished visitors. The two companies of regulars were drawn up to receive them. They proceeded from the station to the cotage in the following order: General Han-cock and Colonel Jones, Admiral Rowan and General Sherman, Senator Evarts and General Rufus Ingalls, Senator Miller, Jas W. Drexel, General Hancock's staff.

THE SERVICES. At 10 o'clock the services were held a he cottage, in the presence of over 1,000 persons. Some chairs and rustic seat were provided for ladies, under the trees in e grove. The ceremonies were opened the reading of Psalm No. 90, which was whole assembly present, with fine effect Dr. Newman then delivered the sermon the family sitting in the meantime abou he remains in the parlor.

DR. NEWMAN'S REMARKS.

Matthew: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant * * * enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." "Such, my brethren," said the sphaker, "is the eulogy that od shall pronounce upon human goe ess and fidelity wherever found amo the sons of men." He said some of his plendor of the mortal genius of the dead esman, others would review the histor and the majesty of his civil administration and historians would place him on the edestal of his renown; "but let me, said the speaker, "as a minister of religion dwell upon that great character which wil ever be his crown of glory and the imper ishable heritage of the country he loved so well." The minister then dwelt upon th onors which had been bestowed upo nim and the homage which was done to his memory, and declared that the secret of nis power on the thought of the world and in the love of mankind was his loftiness of character, grandeur of intellect, and the fact that he was none other than himself. He was one of the few men in historia. of the few men in history who exceed ex-pectation, and by doing what all others had failed to do. He had no hatred in his heart. His holy evangel to the nation was, "Let us have peace." In his dying chamber he grasped the hand of him whose sword was he first he had won, and, as illustrative of his broad spirit, sorrow was national to ay in its broadest sense. Duty to his con science, his country and his God was his highest standard of successful manhood. He was the humblest of men and the lover the most lowly. His love of wife, child etter found after his death. He had writ sive day after day for fourteen days, know-ing she would find it at last." He quoted om the letter as follows:

"Look after our dear children and direct them in the paths of rectitude. It would distress me ar more to think that one of them would deart from an honorable, upright and virtuous fie than it would to know that they were prostated on a bed of sickness from which they rere never to arise alive. They have never iven us any cause for alarm on this account, and I earnestly pray that they never will. With and I earnestly pray that they never will. With hese few injunctions, and the knowledge I have of your love and affection and of their flutiful affection. I bid you a final farewell until we meet in another, and, I trust, a better world. You will find this on my person after my de-nise."

This was dated Mt. McGregor, July 9 Dr. Newman said the principles of Chris anity were deeply engrafted upon the pirit of General Grant. On the 18th o April last he had said: "I believe in the Holy Scriptures, and who so lives by them will be benefited. Men may differ as to their interpretation, but the Scriptures are man's best guide." He held broad religious views and believed in the kinship of al mankind. The closing portion of the ad dress was devoted to a description of the st hours of the General's life; his calm for titude, unwayering patience and clear brain, knowing that the end was near and oraying for its coming. CONCLUSION OF THE SERVICE. The great crowd that attended the ser borne down the steps by the Grant Post, of Brooklyn, composed of thirteen veterans, and was preceded by a detachment of soldiers and two buglers, playing the "Dead March in Saul." MRS. GRANT LEAVES THE COTTAGE. Albany, August 4th.—A dispatch received here says that Mrs. Grant left Mount McGregor for New York late this evening.

DAMAGED DRAPINGS. NEW YORK, August 4th.-The heavy ins and wind-storm of yesterday made sad havoc with the mourning emblems in all parts of the city. Nearly all the large puildings where decorations were extensive e being redraped. Hundreds of picture of General Grant which adorned the hous fronts were ruined by the rain.

PROBABLE COST OF THE FUNERAL. NEW YORK, August 4th.-It is estimated some quarters that the total cost of followed by an impressive prayer by Rev. Saturday's pageant will not be far from Bishop Harris. The hymn "My Faith $1,000,000 as follows: Expenses of regular Looks Up to Thee" was joined in by the troops, $3,000; National Guards, $70,000: city expenditures, $35,000; civic organiza tions, $250,000; draping city, $500,000. OBJECTIONABLE VERSES.

NEW YORK, August 4th .- The Tim Dr. Newman's REMARKS.

Dr. Newman spoke very feelingly in his address, which consumed one hour and a half in its delivery. He took as his text the twenty-first verse of the 25th charter of intelligent men generally. Many polite requests for their removal have been un-heeded by the Commissioner hitherto. MEMORIAL MASS MEETING.

New York, August 4th.-A memori mass meeting, in which the entire local colored population was well represented, was held last evening at Bethel, the African of the church were heavily draped with black, a catafalque rested on the pulpit and thirty young colored women dressed white, with alternating bright red and blu sashes, marched up the aisles, and at the conclusion of an address they decorated the catafaique with wreathes and flowers.

HONORS IN ENGLAND. LONDON, August 4th .- The grand me orial services in Westminster Abbey th afternoon were an imposing event added to the history of England. The edifice was crowded with a congregation, nearly ever member of which was a distinguished per son. The order of service was as follows 1. Schubert's funeral march; 2. Funeral rocession up the nave of the Cathedral to the choir; 3. The opening of the burial service; 4. "The Nineteenth Psalm;" 5. "The Day's Lesson;" 6. Funeral sermon by Canon Farrar; 7. Spohr's anthem, "Blest are the Departed;" 8. Handel's anthem, "His Body is Buried in Peace;" 9. Two concluding prayers; 10. The burial service; 11. Blessings; 12. "The Dead March in Saul." The funeral address delivered by Canon Farrar was most impress ren and home was supreme. Speaking of the deep and tender affection he bore his wife, the speaker said: "And such was the tenderness of his love and the solicitude tenderness of his love and the sol ess silence. Among the distinguished En or her and hers that he surprised her by a House of Commons. Leary, Miss Leary, Nicolaus. How to Preserve Cut Flowers.

An important rule, though seldom i arded, is never to cram the vases with owers; many will last if only they have arge mass of water in the vase, and not to many stalks to feed on the water and pol ate it. Vases that can hold a large quan titte it. Vases that can hold a large quan-tity of water are much to be preferred to the spindle-shaped trumpets that are ofter used. Flat dishes filled with wet sand are also useful for short-stalked or heavy-headed flowers; even partially withered blooms will revive when placed on this cool, moist substance. Moss, though far prettier than sand, is to be avoided, as it so soon smells disagreeably and always into oon smells disagreeably, and always interers with the scent of the flowers placed in

In the case of flowers that grow only in a ool temperature, and suffer when they ge to warm and dry air, all that we can do i lessen evaporation as much as possible nd when such flowers have hairy stem and leaves, to submerge them for a minute so that by capillary attraction they may continue to keep themselves moist and cooput this is dangerous to table-cloths or pol shed surfaces, unless care be taken that the oints of the leaves do not hang down t revent dripping. Another means of preventing delicate and sweet-scented flowers from flagging is to ut them with several leaves on the stem, and, when the flower head is placed in waer, to allow only this head to remain bove the water, while the leaves are en tirely submerged; by this means the leave seem to help to support the flower, which will then last for three days in a fairly con room. Frequent cutting of the stem is o great use; but with all flowers by far th best plan is to put them outside, exposed to dew or rain, during the night, when the will regain strength enough to last on for days. > From time to time mention has been made in these columns of efforts to improve the quality and excellence of our Muslin Underwear.

Latterly we believe a point has been reached which enables us to place before customers underwear of the best selected cottons, made only by expert operatives, finished so well as to compare favorably with the best efforts of home-made work, and at prices so moderate as to make it no longer profitable to spend time or labor over the home sewing machine.

Nor have we confined our efforts solely to the finer grades of underwear. Quite as much have we sought to improve the lower grades, and quite as noticeable is the success achieved—nothing slighted, every stitch perfect and regular, every seam straight and uniform; the same neatness characterizing every garment on our shelves, making them distinct creations from the ordinary underwear of trade.

We also carry in this department interesting lines in infants' and children's goods.

An Organized Band of Negroes Terrorizing a Pennsylvania Community. Huntington (Pa.), August 4th .- An or has been practically suspended. A few evenings ago, just before dark, the negroes made a descent upon a little tavern kept by John McGarvey. They battered his place lmost to pieces, and carried off a consider able amount of money, whisky, tobacco and cigars. McGavey had most of his money concealed in the basement, and the negroes, suspecting this, forced him to disclose the place where it was hidden by tor-turing him in the most fiendish and brutal nanner. After a night of debauchery the negroes crossed the mountains and raided a saloon kept by Louis Shaffner. They took Shaffner and his delicate wife into the captives, and through the remainder of the night forced them to undergo indignities of a most brutal character. Mrs. Shaffner was unbound and carried further into the woods, where she was found in the morning in a dying condition. The country is alarmed and the greatest excitement prevails. The citizens are considering the question of petitioning the Governor for white prevails. military protection. The Great Cyclone.

It is probable that no exact amount of the number of its victims, or complete details of have to property. can ever be secured. The best information at hand is that five persons lost their lives. Four are reported missing and sixty injured, some so seriously that recovery is impossible. The scene in the Twenty-fifth Ward of Philadelphia to-day is one of des-olation. Many houses are razed to the ground, others completely gutted, while many more are roofless. The appearance of the localities on both sides of the Délaware river, in the direct track of the tornado, resemble a once thickly-populated region that had been visited by an exten-sive fire. The total loss will amount to and $25,000 in vessels damaged in the river The rain-storm which followed the tornade also did a great deal of damage. It was arranged that the President and all the members of his Cabinet would leave Washington Friday afterceremonies attending the funeral of Gen-eral Grant, and that immediately after their conclusion the President, accom-panied by Colonel L. Lamont, would go to Albany, and remain there until Mon-day, on which day he would start for the Adirondack mountains. Dr. Ward, of Albany, will go with him to the mountains, and probably Colonel Lamont also. The President does not expect to return to Washington before the 10th of September, and will attend to only the Cabinet, one or more of whom will remain at the Capitol throughout the sum No mail will be sent to him, except such as requires immediate action on his part. CLAY AS A CURATIVE.—Dr. Addinell Hewson, of Philadelphia, in the current number of the Medical Bulletin, gives some nteresting accounts of his experiences with earths as tropical or local remedies in case of crysipelas, smallpox, measles and scarlet fever. He says that in cases of those four diseases which have fallen under his care since 1862, he has used applications of clay without distinction, and has always found a direct and rapid reduction of temperature; a dissipation of pain or distressing local sensations which belong to each of these diseases; a diminution of the duration which is characteristic of each; the allaying of the intensity of the general or constitu-tional symptoms; the prevention of the complications which occur so frequently as to have long been recognized as characteristic of each special disease, and the destruction of all contagiousness and power of propagation of each. Dr. Hewson tells a story of a patient who had smallpox, and insisted that he should use clay upon one-half of his person and the French condensate of the propagation of nalf of his person and the French emplashalf of his person and the French emplastrum de vigo on the other. The doctor drew a line through the center of his forehead, nose, lips, chin and neck to the top of his sternum. He then applied the margin of the plaster along this line, with the body of it over to the left. The clay was spread over the other side. Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes.
